

LB: (403) Represent!

Posted by Lauren Burrows at 5:40 AM | 6 comments | » Post a Comment

Alberta is split in half, partly by area code (403 vs. 780) and partly by hockey allegiance (Flames vs. Oilers). In the show today, we'll be sticking with the southern portion of the province, and playing songs from the (403).

To see what's cracking in Calgary and surrounding area, I always check out FFWD magazine and CJSW radio.

They tell me that the sixth annual Calgary International Spoken Word

Add a Comment

Comment Title:

You are are currently logged on as drewjoma

Enter Comment Here:

Re: LB: (403) Represent!

Posted at 8:25 AM

Hey Ocean! and Spiral Beach are playing at the Matchbox Theatre in Red Deer on April 7th!

posted by OneA

Red Deer Represent!

Posted at 8:33 AM

"Prior to 1997, the 403 area code encompassed the whole province of Alberta, the Yukon and the western half of the Northwest Territories, reaching more than one ninth of the circumference of the planet from the 49th Parallel to the North Pole. The territories were given their own separate area code, 867, in 1997. In 1999, the northern half of Alberta was split into the new area code 780."

But not Red Deer!

posted by Lauren Burrows

597

Posted at 10:21 AM

Recently, the CRTC began 10 digit dialing in Alberta, since the new area code (597, I believe) opened up.

Question: Do any of you think that Calgary has a vibrant music scene?
How does it compare to Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal, or Halifax?

Being a musician in Calgary, I really want to know!

posted by softhardskeleton

403

Posted at 10:42 AM

Hey, just saw wintersleep last night, Hey Rosetta! and Dan mangan on Saturday and Joel Plaskett is coming in May!

posted by Wedge1

Dialed In..

Posted at 1:33 PM

Sled Island is always a great time! but there are also awesome local shows at places like Broken City & Tubby Dog on the regular.

posted by drewjoma

Shows at Tubby Dog?